

THE GREEN WOODS

As sung by Mr. Demster—Written by Charles Jefferys—Composed by S. Nelson.
 Presented by Geo. W. Hewitt & Co., 73 South Third Street, Philadelphia.

Here un-der the lea... by green-wood tree I pass the noon-tide hour... And hap-pi-er far
 I than he Who seeks but the courtly bow'r For near me grows the wild white rose, A bright sky beams a-bove! And up-ward springs the lark who sings The truest notes of love.
 Here un-der the lea... by green-wood tree I pass the noon-tide hour And hap-pi-er un-der the lea... by green-wood tree I pass the moon-tide hour And hap-pi-er far am I than he Who seeks but the courtly bow'r Hith-er quietly has-ten to me! Un-der the lea... by green-wood tree.

Handwritten notes in the bottom right corner, including the name 'Charles Jefferys'.
